EGGspress Yourself!

April 2009

EGGspress Yourself!

Here is a truly unique and enticing storybook and activity set. The storybook and six expressive wooden eggs offer a role-playing activity to help children identify their feelings.

Humpty's cousins are invited to a party but they need a plan to get over the castle wall. By sharing their feelings and working together, they find a happy solution. Children read the storybook and role play with the six funny egg-shaped friends. They'll help find a way to solve Humpty's cousin's problem and use the egg stands to build towers and tell stories - kids will absolutely love them!

Have yokes of fun!

Five Humpty Dumpties,
And not one more;
One dropped to the ground,
And then there were four.

Four Humpty Dumpties,
Cute as they could be;
One did a flip-flop,
And then there were three.

Three Humpty Dumpties,
Just a lonely few;
Down went another,
And then there were two

Two Humpty Dumpties,
Sat in the sun;
One fell down,
And then there was one.

One Humpty Dumpty,
A real egghead hero;
He took a mighty fall,
And then there were zero.

BOOK: Tough Chicks

From the moment Penny, Polly, and Molly hatch from their eggs, the whole farm knows they are truly tough chicks. They wrestle worms, rope roosters, and are often found under the hood of the tractor. All the other animals and even the farmer himself tell Mama Hen to make her chicks good. "They are good!" Mama Hen replies. But could her chicks be too loud, too independent, and too tough? Lively language and bold illustrations capture all the fun and humor of this delightfully different farmyard romp that's also a resound- endorsement for letting girls be girls (even if they're loud and tough and like to play with tractors.)

I had a silly chicken . . .

Oh, I had a silly chicken and it couldn't lay an egg

So I poured hot water up and down her leg

And she giggled and she giggled and she giggled all the day

And my silly little chicken laid a hard-boiled egg.

Naptime

"Come little chickens," calls Mother Hen

"It's time to take your nap again."

And under her feathers the small chicks creep,

And she clucks a song till they fall asleep.
